About AGBU Generation Next

AGBU Generation Next Mentorship Program makes a difference in the community, one teenager at a time. With concentration in the Los Angeles County, the program pairs volunteer mentors with Armenian teenagers and provides a structured program to support the mentors, the mentees and the parents. Mentors develop friendships with their mentees by providing guidance and support along the perilous journey of adolescence. The program exposes teens to greater opportunities and possibilities, improves their self-confidence, and prepares them to become contributing members of society.

AGBU Generation Next collaborates with the public school systems of Los Angeles County in order to identify middle school students who would benefit from the mentorship program. In addition to regular one-on-one meetings, all mentors and mentees gather once a month for a group activity organized by the program. Past activities have included visits to museums, rock climbing, visits to university campuses, community service events, and other cultural and educational activities.

Generation Next was created in 1997 under the auspices of the international non-profit organization, the Armenian General Benevolent Union (AGBU) and with the assistance of the Glendale Unified School District (GUSD). Over the years, the program has helped hundreds of kids and changed their lives. The program is comprised of dedicated volunteer mentors. With a focus on long-term relationships between the mentors and mentees, the program's mentor retention rate exceeds 80%.

In addition to a full-time Director and Coordinator, Generation Next is supported by a volunteer Task Force, Fundraising Committee and Recruitment Committee.

Become a Sponsor Today!

To continue making a difference in the lives of our youth and provide an effective mentoring program, Generation Next needs the support of committed corporations, business owners and generous individuals within our community.

Giving today will ensure future generations grow to be responsible, confident and well-rounded members of our community. Donations will be used for the program's continued operations: to recruit qualified and committed Mentors, provide informative and educational programs, award scholarships, and plan group activities which expose our youth to interesting subject matters expand their knowledge.

There are various ways to become a Sponsor. Give Today!
